

Abstract

Title: Czech players opinions of streetball

Aim: The aim of this diploma thesis is to analyze an actual situation of streetball in Czech republic, respectively in the world and also to find Czech players opinions of streetball and find the reasons why basketball players give priority to streetball.

Methodology of thesis: The paper has character of qualitative research. In result our analysis should be the first official study of this subject in Czech Republic and could help to better orientation in this modification of basketball. Thanks to results of questionnaire application we will find the reason why basketball players prefer streetball.

Results: The thesis confirmed more or less hypotesis before. We wanted to find how the streetball is attractive for basketball players. The questionnaire confirmed that they playes streetball often and majority of them prefer it especially in the summer-time or minimally they appreciates it like a good change in trainig.

Key words: basketball, streetball, freedom, delights un movement, fair play.